HUNS WON'T SIGN, DECLARES EBERT

SAYS HE WILL NOT CONSENT TO SURRENDER OF DANZIG TO POLES.

By the Associated Press
COPENHAGEN, March 24.—Germany cannot and will not sign a treaty of peace which involves the annexation of the Baltic port of Danzig to the newly created republic of Poland, President Ebert declared in a speech Sunday, according to a Berlin dispatch received here.

It is understood that the allies favor giving this city to the Poles as an outlet to the sea, thereby involving the surrender of a good sized strip of Prussian territory taken from the Poles when the ancient kingdom was dismembered by the Russians and Austrians in the eighteenth century.

HUNGARY IN THE HANDS OF BOLSHEVIKI REVOLUTIONISTS

PREMIERS ARE IN CONFERENCE

DISTURBING NEWS FROM HUNGARY SPEEDS UP ACTION BY DELEGATES.

By the Associated Press
PARIS, March 24.—A conference of premiers was called today for 3 o'clock to arrange for the program of the supreme council session an hour later. News from Hungary and Poland was expected to spur the heads of governments to military decisions of first importance. The League of Nations commission will reassemble at 8:30 o'clock this evening with the expectation of virtually concluding the draft of the League covenant. The peace conference has been advised by entente agents of the critical situation in Hungary. Some street fighting has been reported from Budapest and it is urged that entente nationals need protection which would be afforded by monitors proceeding up the Danube from Serbian ports.

ADA IS COMING TO THE FRONT IN MUSICAL LINES

By Prof. A. L. Fentem.

There is not a town in the whole country that has a more promising future than Ada. The period of childhood has been past and small things no longer look large to its citizenship. The town has passed through the adolescent period—that state of mind when it does not know what it wanted—and at the beginning of the most promising epoch it stands, fully developed, bursting with energy and ability, prepared to take advantage of the best that offers.

Nor will it consent anymore to have anything but the best. A few years ago, Ada chose the best occasionally in order to be in the fashion rather than to satisfy a real desire for the best, but that state of mind has passed and the best is demanded because the best is really wanted. Oklahoma City, Tulsa, Muskogee, and other cities of the state, may have more of the best, but the quality of the best that Ada gets is in no wise inferior to the quality of the best that these other cities get.

A few weeks ago Shawnee had the pleasure of hearing Lucy Gates, America's premier coloratura soprano, in concert and was delighted almost beyond expression. Word direct from there proclaims her all that her press notices claim for her. Reports from her most extravagant, successful concert tour keep coming in and when she appeared in concert in Ada the people are sure to have the very best that Ada has ever had in the musical line and equal to the best that can be had anywhere.

This, too, is saying a great deal in view of the fact that such musicians as Mere Alcock, Arthur Middleton, and Paulo Grippe have appeared here.

It is distinctly the purpose of the management of the high school to continue its policy of affording the citizenship of the town with such opportunities as these.

Miss Gates will appear on Friday night, April 4th, at the Normal auditorium. Watch for her program.

J. M. TAYLOR DIES AT LEONARD, TEXAS

J. M. Taylor died Saturday evening, about 9 o'clock, at Leonard, Texas. He was a loyal member of the Baptist church and a good citizen.

The funeral services will be held Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 at the family residence. The interment will be with the honors of the Woodmen of the World.

In the death of Mr. Taylor, Ada loses another pioneer. Deceased was a native of Louisiana and from there moved to Texas. He moved from Fate, Rockwall county, to Wetumka, Oklahoma, in 1901 and a year later to Ada where he and his family have resided since. He was 68 years of age at the time of his death.

Mr. Taylor was a man who was respected by everyone who knew him. He was a loyal member of the Baptist church and a good citizen.

He is survived by his wife and four children, Mrs. Ruth King, Mrs. J. J. Holden of Atlanta, Ga., Hugh Taylor, in the American army in France, and Miss Susie Taylor.

BOLSHEVIKI MAKE COUP AND SEIZE REINS OF GOVERNMENT; SITUATION TENSE.

By the Associated Press

The question of a barrier which the peace conference intends to erect against the spread of bolshevism in the former central empires comes sharply to the front as a result of the Hungarian situation where the bolsheviks have seized power and declared a state of war to exist between Hungary and the entente powers. It was reported that an important military decision will be taken at today's session of the supreme council and Premier Clemenceau and Foreign Minister Pichon conferred Sunday on action looking to military measures, according to Paris newspapers. Two French divisions are at Budapest and Serbian and Rumanian troops are available for service in Hungary should they be needed.

The extremist element in Hungary is said to be in absolute control and in a wireless communication with Premier Lenin of bolshevik Russia. It is understood in Paris, according to one report, that three Polish divisions will be sent at once to Danzig on the Baltic coast. Extremists are active in Vienna but the government still controls there. Reports that bolshevik troops are in Galicia ready to advance into Hungary, still lack confirmation.

Premier Declares for Bolsheviki.

PARIS, March 24.—Hungary is in the throes of a revolution in favor of the bolsheviks and Count Karolyi, premier of Hungary, has formed an armed alliance with Russian reds to resist the entente. A strong Russian army is reported marching on Budapest and an allied army has also been ordered to the center of the disturbance. Some of the Czechoslovak soldiers are reported to have joined in the revolution, as a result of bolshevik propaganda against the allies. An appeal has been made to working men and peasants of the country to rise and form an army to resist the occupation of the country by the allies, which occupation was ordered by the peace conference to maintain order.

Allied Troops Reported Disarmed.

BERLIN, March 24.—A special dispatch to the newspaper Freiheit announces the disarmament of the entente troops of occupation at Budapest. The report is unconfirmed, however, and appears questionable.

Excitement at Vienna.

LONDON, March 24.—The revolution in Hungary caused great excitement in Vienna, but did not surprise those aware of the true condition of affairs, says the Vienna correspondent of the Telegraph. He says the communists of Hungary have long been the masters of the nation and considered Count Karolyi nothing but a figurehead and have been waiting for an opportunity to get rid of him. The count declares there are no elements in Hungary capable of making a stand against the extremists.

The situation is attributed by the correspondent to the peace conference's failure to recognize the seriousness of the situation and occupy Budapest with strong forces.

Ukraine Negotiating With Reds.

VIENNA, March 24.—It is learned from the Ukraine that negotiations have been begun between the Ukraine and Russia bolshevik delegates for a settlement of the differences between them. The bolshevik leader, Radowsky, has arrived at Ukrainian headquarters, it is reported.

Budapest Calm.

BASEL, March 24.—Budapest was calm Saturday, according to advices reaching here. The food commissioner has issued a proclamation saying: "As a result of the manner in which the entente has acted, we have allied ourselves to the soviet republic of Russia and placed ourselves under the protection of soviet troops." The new revolutionary government has appointed commissioners for Budapest, it is said.

CZECHOSLOVAKS ORDERED TO HUNGARY. COPENHAGEN, March 24.—A Czechoslovak army has been sent against Hungary, according to an official report received in Vienna and forwarded here.

GOVERNOR SIGNS E. CENTRAL BILL

NEW BUILDING TO START THIS SUMMER, FUTURE OF THE SCHOOL ROSY.

Governor J. B. A. Robertson signed the bill appropriating $100,000 to construct and equip another building at the East Central Normal late Saturday evening, according to information received here today from Representative W. H. Ebey. This settles the matter and work on the new building will begin some time this summer.

President J. M. Gordon is of the opinion that work will begin not later than June or July. He is especially anxious for ground to be broken during the summer term of the normal, in order that fitting services may be held.

The faculty and students of the East Central normal, as well as the hundreds of alumni, are optimistic over the outlook for the future of the school, now that the legislature has appropriated the money for another building. For three or four years the present facilities have not been adequate to take care of the large enrollment as well as the students desiring to be taken care of, according to the way the authorities looked at the matter.

The enrollment average about five hundred students during the fall, winter and spring terms. In the summer the enrollment goes as high as 900 and 1,000. To properly train teachers of this number in one main building and one small gymnasium building has been a task that taxed the resources and ingenuity of the president and faculty. Good work has been done, nevertheless, and expert teachers have gone out to the various city and rural schools.

For the reason that facilities were inadequate to take care of the large enrollments, the authorities of this school have not undertaken to increase the enrollment, but have given almost entire time to raising the standard of work to the very highest. The success the graduates have met with in actual school work, the records show, indicates this aim has been accomplished.

The school in the future will not simply attempt to do work with small enrollment, but will do good work with large enrollment, the members of the faculty say. The new building will permit the receiving of all those who desire to come and will insure adequate facilities for laboratory and research work.

GOOD ROADS ASS'N WILL MEET APRIL 7

A meeting of the directors and members of the Pontotoc County Good Roads Association and tax payers of the county is hereby called for Monday afternoon, April 7, at 1 o'clock at the county court house at Ada.

We shall expect all directors to be present, and all members as well, and invite all others interested to be present. There will be some business to look after that the directors cannot attend to alone.

The membership is growing, the directors being a soliciting committee and securing many new members.

At this time the association is not in favor of the proposed state bond issue of $50,000,000 for good roads, nor is it opposed to it. It will be left to the membership to declare for or against the bonds.

If there is any business to be done with the county commissioners it can be attended to at this meeting, since the commissioners will be in session at that time.

ADA TOWN

We wonder if as many spring poets as usual will appear this year. When the buds begin to grow and the sun begins to glow and the boy begins to dream of what love's smiles shall mean, he straightway grabs a pen and then and there he does begin to coin a jingle or a rhyme of the lovely feelings of spring time. It all goes to show there's still romance here below, and as long as time lasts spring poets will blow their blasts. Still for several months or more.

STOMACH UPSET?

Get at the Real Cause—Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That's what thousands of stomach sufferers are doing now. Instead of taking tonics or trying to patch up a poor digestion, they are attacking the real cause of the ailment—clogged liver and disordered bowels.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets arouse the liver in a soothing, healing way. When the liver and bowels are performing their natural functions, away goes indigestion and stomach troubles.

If you have a bad taste in your mouth, tongue coated, appetite poor, lazy, don't-care feeling, no ambition or energy, troubled with undigested foods, you should take Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. You will know them by their olive color. They do the work without griping, cramps or pain.

Take one or two at bedtime for quick relief, so you can eat what you like. At 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.

poets have warbled out their lore of wars and sacrifices and strife that's been going on pretty rife on the other side of the sea where the birds forget to sing, feedle-dee-dee. All of which means whatever you want it to mean. So, so long.

One needs only to take a walk a few blocks in any direction to realize something of the amount of building now under way in Ada. The demand for houses is so great that high prices of building have no terrors to those in urgent need of homes. Not only that but it has been many a day since real estate changed hands as rapidly as it is now. If a man expects to buy anything in the real estate line he had better grab it now before the price goes up any higher, for it is certain that nothing is going down.

We take it that the Legislature of Missouri did not object to Senator Reed's objection to the League of Nations so much as it objected to his war record. Now that peace has come there is no reason why a public man should not express himself either for or against the League of Nations, and there was no excuse for the pitiful, unparliamentary heckling of Senator Reed during the war. The disgraced senator will not find many sympathizers.

If the state road bill is ratified at the polls it will be up to Pontotoc county to build roads intersecting the state highways so that as many as possible may have the benefit of them. For instance, a good road to Pithugah and Roff and one to Allen should be provided for at the earliest possible moment, and there are several others that might be taken care of.

The man who has been waiting for the past ten years for Ada property to decline before he invested has reason to feel like the fellow who held the bag in the snipe hunt. In both cases the result was the same.

HUMAN JIMSON WEEDS.

From the Miami News.
In these trying times of getting back to a peace footing, when the bolshevik, I. W. W. and like organizations, are all trying to inculcate the doctrine of "get-something-for-nothing," it might be well to take a look backward—bring to mind the successes and failures in life you can recall personally. You can take a respect of what they did as boys—as young men—how they stood in the community and what influence they had.

This is not a sermon on morals, but a rumination on human Jimson weeds. Every man knows of one such weed, and most men of several, and this is the lik that makes up the rank and file these trouble-making organizations.

There is a tribe of Indians in Colombia, South America, who believe life is a flower. That its fragrance is what you make it. They have a high code of morals and will not allow a liar or thief to spend the night among them. Such are banished over the mountains with a little meat and bread and a jug of water. They are never allowed to return. These Indians so under the theory once a liar or thief, always one. If a child, before it reaches its teens, shows a tendency to evade the truth or take that which does not belong to it, it is beheaded with scanty ceremony. In this way—by beheading and banishment—these Indians maintain their high moral standard. They worship the sun, but believe in work of a kind, and every one has something to do, even from childhood. There are no drones—every one is a producer. Which reminds us of the bolshevik and other like sects, because it is so different. With the bolshevik the criminal is an acquisition of great value; the murderer is lauded and crowned king. They recognize no property right, and in this latter the I. W. W. show they are appropriate to their own use they would destroy.

The boy, without something to do some duty to perform, is growing up like a Jimson weed and it is only a matter of years until he will be a full blooded bolshevik, or I. W. W. He is merely a Jimson weed polluting the atmosphere and obscuring the horizon of other boys, leading them into ways they should not go.

Life should be and is the sweetest of all gifts, but to live one must see the beauties of the world and inhale the fragrance of the flowers, with a personality that exhales a fragrance all its own.

The boy with bestial instincts will become a liability to any community in course of time, a noxious weed, shunned by all self-respecting men. Every boy should have his chance to make good in life, and that chance can best be given him by some environments and good wholesome games to play. He should be encouraged in those things he does well and discouraged in those things that ill become a boy.

When we take the boy in hand, as we must, and make a companion of him, we can show him how and what to do and what to leave behind him. He will build up a character and there will be no bolshevistic ideas in his head. He will be a clean, healthy American.

TODAY'S RELIGIOUS THOUGHT

A Young Man and His Visions
"This dreamer cometh." Genesis 37: 19.

These words have formed the basis for many a Commencement sermon. Speakers have suggested that young minds are leaving school and college with visions of literature, science and history, and expecting to realize their visions in art, business and the professions. May we make a higher application of the age-old story? As in Joseph's experience let us urge our youthful reader to hear the call to unselfish service, and follow a plan laid in the mind of deity.

Do any ask: "What shall I do with my vision?" We suggest that you tell it and thus crystallize it into a mental concept. Trust it, for if God is behind it, ridicule can't touch you. If God is behind it, discouragement will not over power you. Apply it in the lowly field of common duty. This future minister at the court of the Pharaohs went as a messenger to his brothers. Future ministers and statesmen must begin with lowly tasks faithfully done.

JAPANESE COTTON GOODS SHIPPED TO BRITISH MARKET

By the Associated Press
MANCHESTER, March 24.—The arrival of Japanese cotton goods in the market here and expectation of further offerings from the same quarter, is causing a good deal of apprehension in the cotton manufacturing districts where many operatives are unemployed.

It is pointed out that if the authorities stopped the import of necessities and luxuries during wartime, the import of competing cotton goods should be prohibited at a time when so many Lancashire cotton operatives are workless. It is urged that strong efforts be made to put the cotton manufacturing trade here on such a basis as will meet this Japanese competition successfully.

AMERICAN ENTERPRISE AT COPENHAGEN

COPENHAGEN, Feb. 28.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press.)—Representatives of many American banking and commercial institutions recently have arrived here because of the growing interest in Copenhagen as the center of business between Scandinavian countries and the United States.

A number of important American exporting companies are establishing their chief European offices in Copenhagen, and the greatest interest is being taken by press and people in their enterprises.

"The free port of Copenhagen is of the greatest interest to the United States," said E. B. Filsinger, of St. Lawrence county, N. Y., "not only because it is important in the export trade to Scandinavia, but because it is going to be virtually the gateway to Russia, Germany, Poland and other countries. Copenhagen will be able to compete with Hamburg, if indeed Hamburg will ever again be as important as it was before the war. We Americans want intimate connection with the Scandinavian market, and if we can conquer that market we will be able to compete with any other exporters."

MEDALS FOR BOYS OF WORKING RESERVE

TULSA, Okla., March 24.—The services of the young boys of Oklahoma, who were too young to fight in France, but not too indifferent to fight under the broiling sun on the farms of Oklahoma last summer, are greatly appreciated by Uncle Sam. The government at Washington has struck off a medal to show its appreciation of the work done by the members of the Federal Boys' Working Reserve and these medals are now ready for distribution.

The office at Tulsa has not complete data on the boys entitled to this medal and they want every boy who worked under the Boys' Working Reserve organization last year to apply direct to A. L. Farmer, Federal State Director, Box 1935, Tulsa, Ok., or take the matter up with their school principal. There are two medals to be awarded, one for minimum and one for maximum service.

With the coming of peace, 180,000,000 people turn to the farmers of the United States as the main source of food supply. The production of a food crop in 1919 is an absolute necessity, and the possibility of such a production hangs upon just one thing—farm labor.

In this grave emergency the United States Boys' Working Reserve stands forth, not as the sole hope of the farmer, for there are other agencies at work looking to the solution of the farm labor problem, but, as possibly the largest, most efficient and most available source from which practically trained farm hands with strength enough to stand up to the job and the will to see it through may be drawn.

The Boys' Working Reserve has been asked to continue its work of speeding up production of food, for another year and thousands of boys are now being enrolled to do useful and necessary work during the coming summer. These boys will be used in harvesting the tremendous wheat crop of Oklahoma.

RED CROSS WANTS REFUGEE CLOTHING

ST. LOUIS, March 24.—American Red Cross officials directly call attention of Americans to the great task it has undertaken to provide clothing, 10,000 tons, for the destitute peoples of Italy, Roumania, Belgium, Greece, Czechoslovakia, Poland, France, Palestine, Asia Minor, and the Southern Slav countries, and appeal for the active cooperation of members and others. The Southwestern Division must do better than its quota of 1,000 tons, although this quota is double the amount asked in last year's campaign.

There is a great difference between that campaign and this. Then the collection was for Belgians alone and the Red Cross had charge of only the collection. This campaign is for the benefit of all the above peoples, and the Red Cross collects, bales, delivers to trains and ships, and supervises the distribution of the clothing in Europe.

Every garment in this vast quantity will be given away. Not a penny's worth will be sold. One making a donation must realize that the gift goes directly to the needy people, and does not become separated from the supervision of the Red Cross until it becomes the property of some one in Europe.

One week's time is allotted the Southwestern Division to accomplish this great task, and it must be done between March 24 and March 31. If all of the chapters of the state would do as well as some, the work, great as it is, could be easily handled within the week of the drive. It is a matter of Red Cross records that the following chapters collected more than five times their quota in last year's campaign: Kay, Claremore, Cleveland, Cushing, Henryetta, Okmulgee, Stillwater, Baine.

The Red Cross naturally looks to counties where large cities are located to exceed their quotas in this campaign, as they have in former campaigns.

HOSPITAL FOR DISABLED DISCHARGED SOLDIERS

By the Associated Press

CAMP TRAVIS, Texas, Mar. 24.—Any soldier who has been honorably discharged since October 6, 1917, for disability occurred in line of duty, and whose present condition is a reactivation of that disability or as consequent upon it, is entitled to hospital or sanatorium under the provisions of the War Risk Insurance Act either in military hospital, if there be room for him, or in local civilian institution. This information is contained in a circular just received at Camp Travis, Texas, from the Secretary of War.

If the case is one of emergency, the Chief Medical Advisor of the Bureau of War Risk Insurance should be informed by telegraph of the case, giving the name, rank and organization from which the man was discharged, the character of the disability and suggestions as to the treatment needed. The nearest representative of the United States Public Health Service should also be notified, as these officials are authorized to take action in such cases. If there be no representative of the Public Health Service in the vicinity, arrangements will be made with local physicians or institutions to take temporary charge of the case. If the case is not one of emergency, the information called for should be furnished by letter to the Chief Medical Advisor of the Bureau of War Risk Insurance, Washington, D. C.

HEAVY SURPLUS OF COTTON ON HAND

The cotton report given out by the Department of Commerce indicates a considerable decrease in exports for the seven months of the fiscal year ending February 29, a slight decrease in home consumption and a decrease in exports, although February was slightly better than the corresponding month of the year previous, and heavy increase in the amount on hand.

The amount held in consuming establishments and in public storage is slightly above 6,000,000 bales. Domestic consumption and exports are each slightly below 500,000 which indicates a total consumption of about 2,500,000 bales during the coming five months of the cotton year, leaving a surplus of around 3,500,000 bales to be carried over.

Quit Betting On A Sure Loss

Occasionally we meet a man who wants to build a home, but is waiting until material gets cheaper. He goes on spending for rent, betting the family funds that later he can build for less.

It's a losing game. Building materials, in the opinion of experts, will not be much cheaper for five years or more, during which time, should you build NOW, you would almost pay for a home.

La Grippe Coughs—

Stop those ugly hard la grippe coughs that weaken the system and lower the vital resistance to more serious ailments, by taking Foley's Honey and Tar. Some victims of la grippe never fully recover the health of the lungs and the cough that "hangs on" is the cough that threatens.

Foley's Honey and Tar helps from the very first dose. It puts a soothing, healing coating on the inflamed surfaces, relieves the tightness and soreness, raises phlegm easily, and gives comforting feeling of ease and warmth. It is also good for bronchial coughs, troublesome night coughs, tickling throat and hoarseness. Do not accept a substitute.

"I had an attack of pneumonia, both lungs being involved. After recovering somewhat, my lungs failed to 'clear up,' and I suffered severe pain from congestion. I took one bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar, and it took all the soreness away and cleared my lungs of the congestion. Yours truly, J. D. Enterkin, Winston, Ga."

I was sick in bed with LaGrippe and had a very bad cough. I took Foley's Honey and Tar and it helped me so much. I kept on and it stopped my cough and I got better. So now I am around the house again. I am 75 years old. Mrs. Mary Kirby, Spokane, Washington.

BRITISH PROPOSE MOTHERHOOD ENDOWMENT

LONDON, March 24.—"Financial endowment of motherhood" has been definitely proposed by the Family Endowment Committee to the National Birth-rate Commission. This calls for the provision, by the state, of a regular weekly income to families with children under 15 years of age. Every mother would receive the equivalent of $312 weekly until her youngest child reaches the age of 15 years.

In addition $1.25 a week would be paid for the support of the first child and $3.12 for subsequent children, until such children attain "school leaving age."

The total cost of the scheme is estimated at £240,000,000 yearly.

Let Your Rent Money Pay for a Home

There are in Ada hundreds of families who have lived here for years and years and who know, beyond question of reasonable doubt, that nothing could persuade them to leave this splendid city. Yet they have rentend and continue to rent the houses in which they live. Such wasteful extravagance, for it can be termed nothing else, would have placed them long ago in a snug little home of their own.

The war has advanced the world more than a hundred years. A new order of things is coming about. It does not include and will not tolerate extravagance in home economics any more than it will in modern business.

The way to Thrift, Confidence, Safety and Comfort lies through Home Ownership and we have made it easy for you. Will you not call and allow us to explain our interesting plan?

SUFFRAGE ASSOCIATION IN SESSION AT ST. LOUIS

By the Associated Press.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., March 24.—Union ization of women in their fight for equal suffrage was the outstanding subject today before the National American Woman Suffrage Association, which opened a jubilee celebration marking the fiftieth anniversary of the granting of suffrage by Wyoming.

Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, president of the association, was on the program today to outline the plan of unionization. The delegates were told that the union, while having a semblance of a political party, will not have for its aim political ascendancy. It will be the re-organization of the present association, and its chief object will be to bring clearly to the front the advantages of possessing the right to vote.

One plan for the union that may be considered calls for a congress. One house would be composed of representatives of the 7,500,000 women from states which have full suffrage. The other would be composed of representatives of non-voting states. Each house would be allowed to consider its own problems, and national problems would be considered in joint session.

While this proposal was to be brought before the convention today, final action will not be taken until the last day of the convention, next Saturday.

A number of sectional meetings were held today at which state problems were decided. At a meeting of one section of women who have been granted suffrage these questions were discussed: "How can the laws of several states defining the legal status of women be unified and approved?" "What can women voters do toward the improvement of election methods?" "What can women voters do to make the United States worthy of world leadership?"

Since the fight for woman suffrage started 50 years ago, 12,500,000 women in 24 states have been given the right to vote for president and of that number 7,500,000 in 15 states have full suffrage.

GREEK OFFICIALS MAKE APOLOGIES

SALONIKI, Feb. 25.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press).—Premier Venizelos and General Paraskevopoulos, commander-in-chief of the Greek army, have offered regrets and apologies to George Horton, the American consul general here, for the unwarranted arrest of Dr. John Henry House, of Ohio, superintendent of the American Missionary School; Rev. William C. Cooper, of Illinois and Rev. William Paine Clark professors in the institution.

The charges on which the arrests were made were entered by a Bulgarian informer and the arrests were by order of a subordinate military official. As soon as the matter was taken to the attention of the authorities by Mr. Horton, the accused were released, and an investigation ordered by General Paraskevopoulos proved the charges, which had been characterized by Horton as "ridiculous and fantastic," to be absolutely baseless.

The Rev. Mr. Cooper was charged with transmitting information to the Germans through Mrs. Cooper's sister who was then resident in Switzerland, and with obtaining employment for a Bulgarian woman as cook in an American consulate, in order that she might steal papers of importance and take them to him at the school.

The informant also declared that he had overheard Dr. House say he had positive information that Macedonia was to be given to Bulgaria when the peace treaty was signed. When this information was given to the Greek authorities they ordered the arrest of all persons with Bulgarian affiliations.

The Old Homestead

By ALDEN CHAPMAN

(Copyright, 1919, by Western Newspaper Union.)

"I don't seem to please her," spoke Martin Frey to his old-time friend, Judge Bartlett.

"Well, Mary is not a demonstrative person," said the judge. "Don't get a lot of nonsense into your head, Martin. You have provided a beautiful home, the children are healthy and happy—what more can you expect?"

But Martin Frey sighed and shook his head, and although he did not pursue the subject it remained in his mind. He had married Mary back at their home town, Leighton, twenty years since. Never had there been a more loyal and industrious helpmeet. And now, only a month before he had confronted Mary with the surprise of her life.

For years he had planned it—the building of a model home as good as any in the town. He had cherished the idea, saving, scraping, for nearly a decade. He had never let Mary even surmise what he was at. When the beautiful house was all completed and newly furnished he had appeared in a brand-new automobile and had piled in the delighted children, with the brisk, cheery hail:

"Come, Mary, I'm going to take a drive!"

And then, as they reached the new home he had so proudly acquired, he drew a key from his pocket, handed it to her and said, grandly waving his hand toward the pretty house:

"There's your new home, Mary, and no one ever deserved one as you do!"

Mary was pleased, there was no doubt of that. She admired all the fine points of the handsome residence and her eyes brightened as they noted the comfortable and even luxurious furnishings.

"You are a good man, Martin," she said, and her voice quivered with emotion, and then she kissed him, and his heart warmed toward her.

For all that, as time went on, Martin noticed that Mary did not seem to exactly fit into her new environment. They were able to keep a maid now, but Mary was wedded to her old housekeeping ways. She missed the old kitchen stove and the shining gas range troubled her. She missed washing the children every Saturday night in the old-fashioned wash tub.

"It's beautiful, Martin," she would say, "but I can't help thinking of the old home back at Leighton. Don't you remember the view from the old open piazza there, just far and grand? And the cool well water, and the honeysuckle vine, and the little school-house just beyond our lot?"

"I do, indeed," Martin would reply, "and it's the sweetest picture in the world in my memory. But ways have changed, Mary. And the old place? Twenty years—why, I suppose Leighton is just a bustling little city now, and you wouldn't recognize it, with all the old landmarks gone."

Still Mary cherished her dream. It was not difficult to convince her that the children were given great advantages under the new order of affairs, but the old home seemed to beckon her. It was a shrine in memory and devotion and she longed for a sight of it once more. How much, Martin never knew until Mary was under a spell of sickness. He was spelling the nurse one evening and seated in the half-darkened room where Mary lay, when he knew from her restlessness that she was fevered and incoherent. He caught some words that enchain attention and interest. In her delirium Mary fancied she was conversing with an old-time girl friend.

"I don't want Martin to know, dear," Mary was murmuring. "He is so good and kind to me, but it has seemed to me for years that the greatest boon I could ask would be to visit the dear old home again. If it is only to freshen my memory and help the longing I cannot repress, it would be a blessing to me. I hope some time before I die Martin will visit Leighton and I will get my wish."

"You poor, romantic, sentimental dear! That you shall!" whispered Martin to himself, and until the day far ahead when Mary regained her old strength the idea never left his mind. The glad look in her eyes fully repaid his care and thoughtfulness, when he one day announced that he was going to take a trip to Leighton in the automobile, children and all.

With eager, expectant eyes Mary looked from the vehicle as the machine turned into the street where she had passed her early childhood. Slowly her face lost its token of delight. There were stores where the houses of her youth had been. The old-time green lawn were gone. The quaint, well-remembered little schoolhouse was occupied as a repair shop, the grand valley view shut out by the smoke of great factories, the honeysuckle vine was no more, and the house, always so neatly painted and kept, seemed ready to collapse with the first strong wind and was given over to poor mill workers.

Mary drew down her veil to hide her tears. "We had better go on," she said forlornly, and was very quiet all the way back to their starting point. That evening she was more kind and gentle than ever to the children, and she placed her arm about her husband's neck when they were alone.

"Martin, dear," she said, "I have learned a lesson—home is where love is; and, oh, I am so content and happy!"

Reading advertisements has helped to make this a united country

Jim Hawkins props his feet on the rose festooned porch railing in an Oregon suburb and reads the same motor car advertisement that Cousin Peter is studying as he rides home from work in the New York subway.

In Arizona you can buy the same tooth paste and tobacco that are used by the folks in Maine.

California fruit growers advertise their oranges and lemons to the people of the East. New Hampshire factories make ice cream freezers for Texas households.

There can be no division in a country so bound together by taste, habit and custom.

You can meet up with anybody in the United States and quickly get on a conversational footing because you both read the same advertisements.

Advertising is the daily guide to what's good to buy.

Advertisements give you the latest news from the front line of business progress.

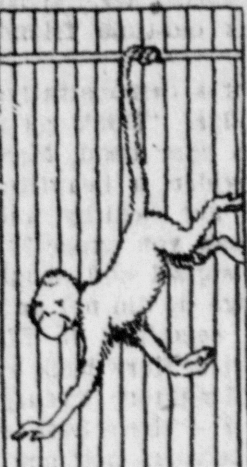

Reading advertisements enables you to get more for your money because they tell you where, what and when to buy.

And it is a well-known fact that advertised goods are more reliable and better value than the unadvertised kinds.

DADDY'S EVENING FAIRY TALE

A MONKEY TRUTH.

"Did you hear that?" asked Eva, the monkey, of her chum in the zoo.

"I was busy swinging by my tail, and I wasn't paying much attention to the people outside."

"Well, I was sitting on my perch," said Eva, "and so I heard what was being said. But let me tell you, the keeper told them some facts."

"What did the keeper tell them?" asked Letty.

"Listen, and I will tell you," said Eva.

So Eva and Letty sat on the same perch and Eva put her arm around Letty and said: "Keep calm when you hear it, for the keeper set the people right."

"Good," said Letty. "The keeper is always doing things for us."

"He must certainly be," said Eva, "and he says that only people who care about animals and who love them when they're well or sick or naughty, and who understand them should be the ones who are allowed to take care of them."

"That's right," said Letty. "Just suppose we had any other keeper but the one we have. Wouldn't it be too dreadful?"

"My dear Letty, don't even say such a thing. The very thought send shivers from the top of my head to the tip of my tail."

"It makes me feel the same way," said Letty. "I was sorry the moment I had spoken that 'bought of mine'."

"Ah," said Eva, "we have a keeper who means what he says and who lives up to it."

"What do you mean by that?" asked Letty. "I know the keeper is perfect. But tell me just what you mean by those words."

"Well," said Eva, "there are some folks who will say: 'I love little children. They are so dear and sweet.' And then if a little child gets dirty or does something wrong (which we're all very apt to do once in a while) or if the child is tired and not feeling well, some of these folks don't act as though they did love little children at all."

"There are others, too, who will say how much they love animals and will leave their pets alone for hours and hours and hours, with nothing at all to do and no place to play in."

"But the keeper is different. He says he loves animals, and he does."

"Now I know what you mean," said Letty, "and I agree with you. There is no make-believe about our keeper. But you were going to tell me what the people said who were here not long ago."

"So I was," said Eva.

"Tell me now," begged Letty.

"All right," said Eva, with her arm still around Letty, as they both sat on their broad perch or swing.

"It's something the poor keeper has had to explain again and again."

"The people said, as they looked at some of us, especially at myself, I believe: 'See those monkeys scratching themselves. Aren't they horrid and dirty?'"

"Did they say that?" asked Letty, wrinkling up her forehead in surprise.

"After the many, many times the keeper has told them the truth."

"They did," said Letty.

"Eva, shaking her head. "But the keeper is never tired of telling them what is so. He went up to those people and he tipped his cap politely, as he does when he speaks to folks, and he said: 'Pardon me, but I heard you saying something about monkeys which is not true.'"

"They looked rather surprised and he continued: 'Monkeys are as clean as clean can be. They aren't scratching themselves because they are dirty. They are picking off every scrap of dust and dirt, and what they seem to be eating is the salt that is found in a monkey's skin. Let me show you.' And he showed them my clean skin, quite proof to them that it was wrong, quite wrong, to say monkeys were dirty."

"Three Things at Once."

"Now, dear," said a mother to her small four-year-old daughter, "you have chattered long enough. Hold your tongue, close your eyes and go to sleep."

"Why, mamma," queried the little miss, in surprise, "how can I do three things at once?"

PALM GARDEN SOLD TO C. W. RAINS AND SON

C. W. Rains and son, C. B. Rains, of Geary, Oklahoma, bought the Palm Garden from Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Wetherington Saturday evening and are now in charge of the business. The newcomers to Ada are live business men and have made a success in Geary. They came to Ada with a good record.

Mr. and Mrs. Wetherington started a small business on Twelfth street eight or nine years ago when the city was only a struggling town, being pioneers in the confectionery line in this part of Oklahoma. In a short time they had made their place one of the most popular of its kind in the state, and later moved to Main street. They have made many friends, who will be glad to learn that they will remain residents of Ada. Just what line of work Mr. Wetherington will engage in he has not decided.

We Thank You.

We have sold the Palm Garden to Messrs. C. W. and C. B. Rains, formerly of Geary, Okla., and bespeak for them the same liberal patronage and courteous treatment we have always enjoyed in Ada. They are excellent gentlemen and worthy of the best treatment at the hands of the public.

We came to Ada a decade or more ago and started in the confectionery business in a very humble way. Through liberality on the part of the public and a great deal of hard work on our part we have prospered and built up a profitable business. Also we have made many friends in the city whom we appreciate beyond our ability to express in words. We shall make Ada our home and hope to ever meet you on the same friendly terms as in the past.

We thank one and all for every courtesy and kindness.—Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Wetherington.

COMMANDERS OF HUN SUBS WANT AMNESTY

By the Associated Press.
 BERLIN, Feb. 23. (Correspondence of The Associated Press.)—Demand that the peace treaty contain a clause granting amnesty to German submarine commanders for the outrages they committed in the ruthless submarine warfare, is voiced by the ALLGEMEINE ZEITUNG. The Berlin newspaper evidently expects that the Allies will demand the surrender of all German submarine commanders and to present an argument to show why these men should not be punished for the crimes they committed on or under the seas. The paper also gives warning that any attempt to hold them responsible for their murders of innocent persons might fan the flames of international hatred.

"These captains," asserts the newspaper, "were not responsible for the conduct of submarine warfare or for carrying on the unrestricted undersea campaign. They were acting within the scope of their orders and the Entente could not possibly hope to defend the position that these men were responsible when they simply carried out in a professional way the instruction they had received."

If the Entente is determined to place the responsibility for the war on certain persons and make them the subject of criminal proceedings, an international tribunal would be the only competent; and before this we gladly await the verdict.

"England and other members of the Entente, however, will do very well to carefully ponder whether this would serve as a precedent which might be followed after the conclusion of peace to renew the flame of hatred. If this is to be a peace of understanding and reconciliation, the treaty to be concluded must contain the traditional amnesty clause."

New caps for young men that three countries had a hand in making

$1.00 to $3.00

First of all, they're made in America, from English woollens, in a French style. A combination that can't be beat at home or abroad.

The style is a flat, one-piece top creation that looks like a pie plate off, and fashion plate on.

The Cloths are heather effects in green, brown and gray that go well with anything—anywhere.

And the workmanship is—well it's strictly American, so we won't have to go into details.

If you wear Caps — see these. They'll captivate your desire to own one.
